

OK, Who Put That Tree There!

Barry Herthum's German Cub was off the ground for hours at a 2011 fly-in. A stand of trees at a Giant Scale event snatched the big guy right out of the sky. To "complete the flight", Barry had to leave the site and go rent a cherry picker! After the plane finally "landed", the only damage was a broken prop.

The plane was flying at our field Memorial Day weekend. And, no, Barry did not still have the cherry picker—but he has the contact if you ever land in a tree at Mac Hodges' field!
